

IS LA FOLLETTE PLAYING A DEEP POLITICAL GAME WITH ISAAC STEPHENSON?

Either The Governor Will Not Go To The Senate or "Uncle Ike" Is The Victim of a Cruel Scheme--Little Doubt the Marinette "Producer" Expects to Be Elected to the Upper House of Congress.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 24.—Some things are happening at Madison, which, according to the Milwaukee Daily News, are leading to the opinion that either "Uncle Isaac" Stephenson is being made a victim of a most heartless political game, or else that Gov. Robert M. La Follette does not intend to go to the United States senate and pressed by the obligations he is under to the Marinette chief, intends trying to place the latter in the upper house of congress.

It has leaked out here that prior to the issuance of the call for the special legislative session, Gov. La Follette had a telephone talk of an hour and a half on Monday evening with Mr. Stephenson. This is absolutely the fact. More than this it can be said that assemblymen, who are supposed to be leaders and in whom La Follette has implicit confidence, have been asked to gather in Madison on Friday and Saturday of next week for conferences with the governor, prior to the extra session, which is to begin one week from Monday, and the requests for these conferences state that the governor desires to see them particularly on a matter of great importance.

If there is really to be an attempt to elect Mr. Stephenson United States senator the move may account for a great many things which have occurred the past few weeks and for the sudden switch from an apparent fight for Leuroot to the "extra" session. It is known that "Uncle Isaac" was by no means in favor of the Leuroot program and the attitude of the morning organ in Milwaukee demonstrated very clearly that something was amiss with the Marinette statesman very soon after the Leuroot program was announced. It may be that the governor saw the loss of an organ in his plan of going to the United States senate and rather than risk this situation he has resolved to stay in Wisconsin and gradually to stay the ambition of Mr. Stephenson's life.

The announced fact that Mr. Stephenson is making plans to spend the winter in Washington would add color to this story and although there are many who believe that the attempt of the governor to elect Mr. Stephenson to the United States senate will be little more than a comedy or a tragedy, according to the view point from which it is watched and that Gov. La Follette does not intend Mr. Stephenson shall go to the senate, there are men here who seem convinced now that an effort will be made to elect Mr. Stephenson. If the governor has really taken this task upon himself he has undertaken what will without doubt prove an impossible job as no matter what La Follette's power may be there are many in that legislature who will balk on casting their ballots for Isaac Stephenson for United States senator just because La Follette orders them to do so to pay his personal political debts. Then again there are many members who know that "Uncle Ike" is no "reformer" at all. He is just a plain corporationist of the sturdiest variety out for revenge and that his attachment to reform has been only for that purpose.

True he has been freed freely for

SCHANDEIN WILL CASE IS DECIDED THIS AFTERNOON

Will Of The Widow Of The Millionaire Is Sustained By Judge Carpenter.

[Special to The Gazette.]
Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 25.—Judge Paul Carpenter this afternoon handed down his decision in the famous Schandelin will case. In the decision rendered the will of the late Mrs. Schandelin is sustained and the fortune goes to the persons who received the bulk of the property left. The case has been most stubbornly fought in the courts and the attorneys' fees and witness allowances will amount to thousands of dollars. The most sensational testimony ever introduced in a Milwaukee court played an important part in the hearings.

Several days before Thanksgiving Mr. You-n-me reverts constantly to his boyhood remembrances of that occasion.

STILLINGS READY TO ASSUME CHARGE

New Public Printer Will Enter on Duties at Washington Monday Morning.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, Nov. 25.—Charles Stillings, the new public printer, arrived here today and will take charge of his office Monday morning. There is no doubt that when the name of Mr. Stillings comes up before congress for confirmation, it will meet some opposition, because of the dissatisfaction of the printers' unions regarding the appointment. Coming to the position as an official of the United Typographical union, the printers' interests will not be served by the new public printer. The fact that an open shop man is to be in charge is said to have had its effect already in the big printer. Men entering the shop do not feel the necessity of now joining the union in order to protect their positions.

WILD DAGO KILLED MANY COMPANIONS

Lost Money Gambling, and Then Shot the Winner with His Revolver.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]
Waukegan, Ill., Nov. 25.—Infuriated, the police believe, by his gambling losses, an Italian laborer in a railroad construction camp at Winthrop Harbor, Wis., ran amuck among his companions early today and killed two and wounded three. Two of the wounded will die. Saltee Zetzette is the name given the police as the slayer and he has fled from the camp, which is between Zion City and Kenosha. Men from the camp led by the police are searching lower Wisconsin. Zetzette it is said watched a gambling game and decided to join. He risked a few coins and lost. He then drew his revolver and began firing, having a running battle with the dead men's comrades. Two were killed at the game, and the fugitive ambushed others on a side road to the north and brought down two more, who are dying, and a third is wounded, but will recover.

CONVICTS KILL PRISON GUARDS

Mutiny Breaks Out In Missouri Penitentiary At Jefferson City Last Night.

GREAT STEEL GATES BLOWN UP

Charge Of Nitroglycerin Opens Way For Fleeing Men To Escape, But They Are Overtaken And Brought Back.

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 25.—After blowing up the prison gates with high explosives, shooting two prison officials dead, and seriously wounding a third, four convicts, leading a mutiny, escaped from the state penitentiary Friday afternoon, only to be recaptured by guards, police and citizens' posse, after a wild chase and desperate battle with Winchesters, in which two of the fugitives were wounded, one fatally.

The whole city was thrown into a panic by the rapid discharge of firearms and rumors that all the convicts in the big prison had escaped.

Hundreds of shots were exchanged in the running fight, and as the fugitives dashed through the principal street in a wagon they had seized, volley after volley was fired, the convicts holding the driver of the captured team as a living shield from the bullets. Men, women and children scattered in all directions to take refuge from the flying lead.

The dead: E. Allison, prison guard; Hiram Blake, convict from Grundy county; John Clay, gatekeeper.

The wounded: R. E. See, warden, shot in arm and hip; Harry Vaughn, convict, St. Louis; shot in arm.

Mutineers captured unhurt: Charles Raymond, George Ryan, from St. Louis.

Battle With Posse.

The desperadoes, finding themselves surrounded by their pursuers, finally brought their wagon to a standstill, and, taking shelter behind it, turned on their pursuers. Refusing to surrender, they emptied their revolvers right and left at the posse, who took shelter behind trees. The wagon was almost shot to splinters with the rifles of the pursuers before the convicts were disabled by wounds. The plot to blow up the prison and kill all who resisted their efforts to escape evidently had been planned for several days. That other convicts did not follow the four leaders is one of the mysteries of the attempt.

Warden Hall, Yardmaster Porter Gilvin, and five prison guards departed Friday morning for Fort Leavenworth, Kan., on a special train, conveying seventy-one federal prisoners who are being transferred from the Missouri state penitentiary to the government prison at Fort Leavenworth. It is believed that this fact had much to do with the outbreak, as it is surmised the convicts had counted largely upon Hall's absence in their attempt.

Beginning of the Meeting.

There was not the slightest premonition of any trouble within the prison walls. At 3:15 o'clock convicts Harry Vaughn, Charles Raymond, Hiram Blake, George Ryan and Ell Zeigler, who were working in close proximity to the prison gate inside the enclosure, suddenly and as if by given signal made a rush for the gate.

From their pockets they drew pistols. One of them held a bottle of nitroglycerin. Where these weapons and the explosive were obtained has not yet been discovered.

Rushing past the gate they entered Deputy Warden See's office and shot him as he sat in his chair. He sank back and was unable to resist them. Instantly they returned to the gate.

Those living in houses along the line of flight, alarmed by the shooting, rushed out to ascertain the cause. Women screamed and fled precipitately, while the majority of men seized weapons and joined the prison officials in the pursuit. Fear gave speed to the convicts and they outran their pursuers. Near the Missouri Pacific railway depot they came upon a wagon being driven by Orrville Lane. Jumping into this wagon, they seized Lane and held him to act as a shield from the bullets of their pursuers. One convict lashed the horses into a run. The wild ride was of short duration, however, as another posse, consisting of city police, augmented by citizens appeared in front of them, and, seeing further flight was out of the question, they stopped the horse and made a stand. Lane was thrown to the bottom of the wagon and crouching over him, shielding themselves to the best possible advantage behind the sides of the vehicle, they opened fire, back to back, on their pursuers.

The prison officials shouted to them to surrender or they would be shot dead. Their only reply was a volley from their revolvers. The pursuers jumped behind trees and shot with telling effect, splintering the wagon, and finally wounding one of the convicts, who fell. The seeing that further resistance was useless, the convicts surrendered. With a rush the posse closed around the wagon.

It was found that Convicts Vaughn and Blake were suffering from bullet wounds. Lane and Ryan and Raymond were uninjured. The convicts were immediately taken back to the penitentiary, where the wounded were given medical attention, while the uninjured were placed in dungeons. Blake died of his wound.

HEAD NURSE FOR MARSHALL FIELD

GENEVIEVE CONWAY ATTENDING WOUNDED MILLIONAIRE.

IS JANESVILLE YOUNG LADY

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Conway, 119 Lincoln Street—Local High School Graduate.

While the attention of the country is attracted to Mercy Hospital, Chicago, where Marshall Field, Jr., hangs between life and death as the result of a bullet wound from a pistol in his own hand, Miss Genevieve Conway of this city, as nurse in charge of the case, holds a place in public prominence next to that of the attending physician, Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan.

Is Over Mrs. Field. At the operation Miss Conway of fielded and now has in charge four nurses. Three of these are regular trained nurses and alternate in attending Mr. Field. The fourth is the wife of the wounded millionaire and her efforts will be directed by the Janesville young lady. Mrs. Field's devotion has kept her in the room adjoining that occupied by the patient since he was shot and she became one of the nurses. Her prayers to be allowed this privilege were answered by the physicians only after many pleadings and when she had solemnly promised she would not talk to her husband or disturb him in any way.

Born in This City. Miss Conway is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Conway of this city. She was born at their home, 119 Lincoln street, in August of 1880. She attended the local schools and was graduated from the high school with the class of '97. The two years following the completion of her study here she spent in St. Paul, Minn., attending the state university there.

Heads Honor Roll. Miss Conway then returned to Janesville and for two years was bookkeeper and stenographer in the office of Fred E. Green. Three years ago she went to Chicago, entering Mercy Hospital as a student. Her rise in the profession which she chose was rapid and now she is at the head of the nurses' roll of honor at Mercy Hospital in ability and experience.

Was Expected Here Soon. Her brothers and sisters are also well known in Janesville. They are Katherine and Mary Conway of Chicago, Michael Conway of Los Angeles, Cal., and Joseph Conway, who is a student in St. Francis' seminary, Milwaukee. He will be ordained a priest in the Roman Catholic church in June, 1907. Mr. and Mrs. Conway had expected Miss Conway home during the holidays, but unless her present case is finished before that time her visit will be postponed.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purposes.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges; the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from the continued use of them, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some cases a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

care of the wood work which his contracts call for. During the past few years Mr. Cullen has been erecting a number of post-office and Carnegie library buildings in the middle west and he is at present in Hammond, Indiana, where one of his government contracts is nearing completion. The planing mill will give employment to several men and will probably be in operation within a few weeks.

LECTURE COURSE IS OPENED BY CONCERT

The Harmony Company of Chicago, Pleased Audience at Y. M. C. A. Last Evening.

Last evening the annual Y. M. C. A. lecture course was opened with a program by the Harmony Concert company, an attraction under the direction of the Central League Bureau of Chicago. The audience was large, but did not overtax the auditorium of the building, for the management of the course has determined that there shall be no over-crowded houses this winter. When the limit of tickets are sold all applicants will positively be refused admission. Each member of the company is an artist of natural ability, trained to a height of perfection. The musical numbers, solos, duos and quartets, both vocal and instrumental, were decidedly pleasing and most heartily applauded. The work of Miss Gertrude Kirk-Smith, soprano and viola, was exceptionally well received. The musical pieces were interspersed with readings by Miss Woolsey. Her command of the sweet soprano voice which she possesses and her facial expression render her a most delightful entertainer. The company is composed as follows: Gertrude Kirk-Smith, soprano and viola; Alene Dunbar Woolsey, soprano and reader; Daisy Higgins, contralto and accompanist; Maud Kirk-Smith, violin and alto; Lillian Kirk-Smith, flute.

INDOOR ATHLETICS AT THE UNIVERSITY

Dr. Kraenzlein Looking for Track Material—Cross Country Running Team Picked.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 24.—Dr. Alvin Kraenzlein, trainer of the University of Wisconsin football team and coach of the track athletic team, is already preparing for the development of the badger athletes who will represent the university in the western inter-collegiate conference at Chicago next summer. He has done little as yet other than to size up the material and make plans for the indoor training season. Dr. Kraenzlein in his college career was strong in the sprints, hurdles and jumps, and it is in these events that Wisconsin expects to shine next season. Much is expected of Charles Parsons, the California student, who was attracted to Wisconsin last summer by Captain Frank Waller of the badger track team and Harvey Holmes, a former star tackle on Wisconsin football teams. Parsons greatly desired to play football and went to the preliminary training camp at Marinette in September with the purpose of entering the practice squad, but as he was ineligible for the gridiron this season and football might take from his fitness for track work, Manager Downer succeeded in keeping him out of the football work. Waller and Parsons will form the nucleus of Kraenzlein's team, and there are a number of good candidates from last year besides some promising freshmen.

Wisconsin will be represented in the cross country meet at Chicago Thursday morning by Hean, Cooper, Shores, Bertles and Stevenson, these having finished first in the try-out held here by Assistant Physical Director H. D. Ansell, who looked after track athletes while Dr. Kraenzlein was engaged in training the football players. The cross country team will be guests of the University of Chicago athletic association at the Michigan-Chicago football game Thursday afternoon at Marshall Field. The universities of Chicago, Illinois, Nebraska, Northwestern and possibly Purdue will participate in the cross country competition.

Crew coach Andrew M. O'Dea has had exceptionally advantageous weather conditions this fall for the preliminary work of his Wisconsin orsamen, and almost daily work on Lake Mendota has been done with candidate for the freshman boat. Coach O'Dea used a new plan this year, in that he called out the candidates for the crew at the opening of the fall term of school, three months earlier than usual. This caused trouble because the football coaches complained that good football material, greatly needed on the gridiron, was attracted to the crew work because the candidates thought from what Coach O'Dea told them, that they would have no chance for the crew if they did not come out for the preliminary work this fall.

Sixteen of the most promising freshmen have been selected by the coach for special instruction on the water. These have been out in the pail-oars and four-oar shells and as soon as water work is abandoned will be sent to the rowing machines for muscular development during the winter months.

KICKERS' KOLUM

The following communication has been received in this office. As it is signed and the writer known, the Gazette publishes it without endorsing the sentiments officially. While this does not come under the head of the "Kickers' Kolum" it is within its provinces and will be published as such:

Editor. To the Gazette Printing Co. Dear Sirs: If it is not out of place I would like to find place for a discussion of the post-office possibilities.

The announcement of Mr. Nowlan comes as a surprise to his friends and citizens generally. While there may have been some complaint as to the manner in which the Janesville office has been run of late years, it is a fact to those who know its workings that the fault was not entirely Mr. Nowlan's but lay with civil service rules. With Mr. Nowlan out of the race numerous others have sprung up to fill his official shoes. Their qualifications are numerous and varied. Chief among them seems to be their La Pollettoism. This feature is so prominent in all the candidates mentioned that it need not be dwelt upon at length. Everyone will admit that Janesville needs and should have an active postmaster. Take this for a self-evident fact and then look over the candidates mentioned. Colonel E. O. Kimberley, who has been very active in passing his papers for endorsement, is an old soldier and asks for the office on this ground. Friends of Charles Valentine ask for his appointment on much the same grounds and based upon his business ability shown during his long career as a public officer in one capacity or another. V. P. Richardson's name is mentioned as a business man, but Mr. Richardson has not yet said he would accept if the place was offered him. Within the past twenty-four hours a strong sentiment has been expressed for the office and Fred Clements has all the qualifications for the office and would make an excellent postmaster. He is a favorite with all classes and a good business man with the best interests of the city at heart. If it is to be an appointment on merits and for the general good, Mr. Clements would be satisfactory to a large majority of our citizens. Others who have been mentioned are John L. Fisher and L. L. Leslie. Both of them are young men and have the same qualifications as the others. Mr. Cooper will find when he comes to make his election he will not have a bed of roses and the foregoing article is merely to let the general public know whom the mentioned candidates are so that they will not sign a petition for any one without knowing who else is in the field. I send the enclosed article in the hopes that it will be published merely to allow the people to know who are candidates.

HAREFOOT CLUB TO GIVE COMIC OPERA

University Dramatic Society to Present Piece Written by Wisconsin Graduate.

The Harefoot Dramatic club of the University of Wisconsin has decided to put on for its annual production, a comic opera written by Neely E. Pardee of Wausau, a graduate of the university in the class of 1901. The production will be under the direction of Donald MacDonald, class of 1900, formerly of La Crosse, who since leaving the university has been in the cast of several successful comic operas on the professional stage. The proceeds

WEATHER FORECAST

Light Showers; Warmer.

"Making a mull of a thing" is the Scotch phrase for a man who shows little discretion, who mixes and muddles an enterprise. Many a merchant makes a "mull" of a store-venture by wasting his publicity ammunition.

Mr. Governor and United States Senator, isn't it about time to give somebody else a chance?

The game warden can come in for a much needed rest while the legislature is in session.

Uncle Ike proposes to be "Johnnie on the spot" in Washington, but he will continue to be a spectator.

When Davidson gets out from under the rubbish, his friends around the state will be glad to shake hands with him.

If La Follette is governor and Leuroot is senator, or if Leuroot is governor and La Follette is senator, how will McGillivray get back his money invested in pictures.

The special session of the legislature is a game of politics pure and simple, and public opinion so regards it. All of the people can't be fooled all the time.

It is to be hoped that the primary law will be repealed in time for use. The dear people will be very much disappointed if obliged to again resort to the pernicious caucus.

The battle of the faithful, about to come off, will be well worth watching. It promises to be a melee to the finish, and somebody is liable to get hurt. Spectators will do well to keep at a safe distance.

What would the railroads of the state do without a dictator who knows more about the business than the combined talent of all the companies. Stay with us governor, or somebody is liable to get run over by the cars.

What questions relating to the senate and governorship can be presented to the extra session except those prepared by the governor. "Shall I go or shall I stay" is all there is to it. For heaven's sake let him go.

The governor put his foot in it when he called an extra session, and both feet and the balance of his anatomy is liable to be involved before he gets out. People have been known to bite off more than they can chew.

There are wheels within wheels in the game of politics, but the most carefully constructed machine occasionally slips a cog, and the mechanism is damaged beyond repair. Watch the Wisconsin machine.

Mr. Van Brunt of Horicon, has presented to the Wisconsin consistory a farm of 319 acres, valued at $75,000, as a permanent home for Masonry. The gift is unique and thoroughly appreciated. It will be utilized to good advantage.

TROUBLES OF A REFORM BOSS.

"Governor La Follette of Wisconsin," says the Chicago Chronicle, "has called the legislature of that state to meet in extra session on the 4th of December, not alone to provide for necessary additions and repairs to the capitol, as was at first reported, but to legislate on ten other subjects of more or less general importance."

"Republicans who are opposed to the governor's measures, and perhaps some who favor them, suspect that he intends to increase his subjects for legislative action from eleven to an even dozen by declining his election to the United States senate and making it the business of the legislature to elect another in his stead. Some go so far as to intimate that he has already selected the senator to be and will not trouble the legislature to do anything more than elect."

"Be that as it may, he has written a legislative program which will probably need his personal attention for a long time and the state will want two senators before he will be ready to go to Washington.

"The duties of a reform boss are exacting and can not be delegated, because no one can be found who is sufficiently imbued with the reform spirit or gifted with the faculty of leadership."

"Governor La Follette has no liking for the ordinary political boss who can direct without being on the ground all the while. He fully realizes that he is not an ordinary boss himself, but a reform boss who must be always present to keep up the enthusiasm of his followers and supply them with forensic ammunition."

"Among the reform measures which will demand his constant attention is one to amend his own reform law providing for a board of railroad commissioners with power to prevent unreasonable rates and unjust discriminations and to do a variety of things to the railroad companies doing business in the state. The governor's proclamation does not state just what it is in this law that needs amending."

"Laws of this kind, like firing machines, are pretty sure to prove so defective in one place or another that they will not work at all without reconstruction, and each new trial is about as sure to develop new defects until the entire machine degenerates into a mere transitory show to lame and impotent for practical service."

"Another of these reform measures is one to amend another of the governor's reform laws—the one relating to taxation of railroads which was recently held to be constitutional by a Wisconsin court. Something 'more efficient' is now found to be necessary."

"Two other reform measures that the legislature is asked to adopt are to make the governor's election reform laws more effective. His law for making party nominations by direct vote does not work just right somehow and stands in need of alterations and repairs. And the form of ballot now prescribed for use at elections is not satisfactory to the boss and the legislature is notified that it is expected to make it right."

"Whether the new form of ballot which the governor wants is that provided by some highly expensive voting machine does not appear. Some such form will have its advocates in the legislature without doubt."

"Here are reform measures enough to keep the legislature busy until the winter is old, for such as these are not to be enacted without prolonged debate and still more prolonged deliberation in committees."

"While all this is going on the people of Wisconsin will be only half represented in the national senate if Governor La Follette does not step aside and open the way for the election of someone else."

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT.

Sammy Strang, the general utility man of the New York baseball team, and the strongest batter in the club, recently wrote for publication the following rules on batting. The average reader is not a baseball player, but the principle running through Mr. Strang's suggestions, is so vital to success, in every avenue of life, that the rules are well worth reading and applying. Mr. Strang says:

"That young batter who expects to become renowned after awhile should go to the plate each time resolved to hit the first ball pitched."

"He must be just as confident of hitting that ball as he is that he can eat a big dinner after the game."

"CONFIDENCE IS NECESSARY. 'The young man who advances to the plate feeling that perhaps he may not be able to hit the opposing pitcher is lost."

"He will not hit him, that is certain."

"He must say to himself when it comes his turn to bat: 'I can hit the ball and I know it,' or words to that effect. The idea is that he must be so sure of himself that there is not the least thought of failure on his part."

"This confidence is absolutely necessary to the man who wants to shine as a batter."

"When you watch a baseball game all the way through you will be able to pick out the men who have the confidence and those who haven't. You can put your finger on them every time."

"When you resolve to 'hit the first ball pitched' this does not mean that you are to strike at anything the pitcher throws."

"It means merely that you are not to stand up to the plate and let him put good ones over without going after them."

"If the first one he throws is wide, let it go, of course. Let the second go also if that is wide, but ready for the first one that is over the plate."

"The only way you can hit is to tell yourself that you can hit—to be perfectly confident that you can. Until confidence comes, a young batter thinks many times that he will never become much of a hitter."

CONTINUE TO FEEL SURE
"That is the dangerous point. If you are beginning to think that way change your views of yourself at once. Even if you haven't made half a dozen hits this year and really feel afraid, just continue to be determined that you will become a good hitter and it will come to you sooner or later."

"I believe that the really great batter must necessarily have some little amount of natural ability. I mean by this that there must be something to build on—that a famous hitter cannot be built out of the very poorest of material."

"But even the greatest batters had a beginning once."

"How do you suppose Lajoie looked when he took up a bat for the first time and tried to hit a pitched ball?

"Don't you imagine that you make an appearance fully as good as his, right now?"

"Yes, you probably do."

"Now, why not get the determination and the confidence and perhaps some day you will be as great as he."

Mr. Strang's article was copied by the editor of "Suggestion," a magazine published in Chicago which advocates the new psychology, and the faculty called "auto suggestion" was credited with Mr. Strang's success as a ball player.

While this new school of thought is doing much to develop faculties of the mind, the underlying principles are as old as the race, and confidence has always been recognized as necessary to success in any calling.

This faculty, called self-confidence, is a faculty which enlists the energies of both mind and heart, and sacred history furnishes an object lesson where God Himself was the teacher.

Many centuries before the advent of the Christian era, a race of Jews, 600,000 strong, was held as slaves in Egypt, and subject to the most abject bondage. They longed for deliverance, but no leader was found who was able to undertake their cause, until a young shepherd was discovered while tending his flocks on the plains of Judea.

Strolling along the hillside, one bright morning, while the sheep were quietly grazing in the valley below, the attention of this young man was attracted to a bush by the pathway, which blazed with fire and sparkled in the morning sun.

The sight was so unusual that he stopped to investigate, and as he stood watching the bush, which the fire failed to consume, a voice confronted him and said: "Moses, put off thy shoes from off thy feet, for the place whereon thou standest is holy ground."

The young man recognized the voice as the voice of God and for half an hour a spirited conversation followed.

The voice recounted the fact that the young man's kinsmen and countrymen were suffering in bondage, and that Divine deliverance was at hand as soon as the man could be found to aid in carrying out the plan.

But Moses was skeptical and argued the point, claiming that he was insignificant and in no way qualified for a leader. The voice reassured him that God would be with him, and that there was no possibility of failure; still the young man hesitated, claiming that nobody would believe him.

Then, to inspire him with a little backbone and self-confidence, the voice commanded him to throw his staff on the ground and it became a serpent from which the young man fled in terror. Then he was commanded to pick it up by the tail and it became a staff again.

Other miracles were performed, and the young man assured that power would be delegated to him to repeat them in the presence of the Egyptian King, but still Moses hesitated and finally in desperation told the Lord that he was slow of speech and totally unqualified for the task; and then, like the coward, which he was, he said: "Oh Lord, send whom Thou wilt send," (which implied what the author failed to add) "but don't send me."

Then God became disgusted with the young man. Why shouldn't he? And He said to him: "You have a brother Aaron who can talk; go and hunt him up and you do the work and let him do the talking." And so the young man started out on a mission of great importance, trembling in his boots for lack of confidence in spite of an equipment which warranted success.

The young man Moses became a great leader, but he never forgot the lesson of the voice which came to him from the burning bush on the hillside. It inspired him with confidence, the one faculty which he lacked, and raised him from the shepherd boy to the realm of leadership and authority.

The day of miracles has passed. The phenomena of the burning bush and the mysterious voice, no longer incite to action, but the boy Moses, with all the timid characteristics of the olden time youth, is still abroad in the land, and every community furnishes his prototype.

There is a wonderful difference between conceit and self-reliance. The one emanates from a shallow brain, and bears the stamp of shallowness. The other is rooted deep down in the inner consciousness, and every fiber of the being responds to the touch of command.

The boy whose ruling passion is conceit, becomes a football in the game of life, and before the drama is half completed he finds himself stranded on the shoals, but the "Sammy Strang" boy, filled with self-reliance, with bat in hand and shoulders squared away for the game, hits the first ball of opportunity that comes his way with unerring certainty.

But Moses was neither conceited nor self-reliant. He didn't part his name or his hair in the middle and support a dress suit and private coachman on a $10 a week salary.

Discovered in infancy by the King's daughter, in the little bullrush basket where his mother had concealed him to save his life, and taken into the King's family, he enjoyed in his boyhood all the advantages of the court of royalty, yet satisfied to marry a shepherd's daughter and settle down to quiet life on the plains of Judea.

He was not an ambitious young man, and content with humble surroundings he was willing to accept any destiny which fortune might present if it came to him without effort. Had he lived at the commencement of the new century had been a member of "Sammy Strang's" baseball team, his fame as a batter would never have been discovered.

But he had in him the elements of successful leadership, which only needed spurring to action, and calling to his assistance, by Divine direction his brother Aaron, whose only ability was the gift of speech, the two went forth and accomplished a wonderful mission.

These boys of olden times, present to the boys of today an object lesson which should incite to action an ambitious endeavor. The latent power of young manhood too often lies dormant until the age is passed where it can be made effective.

The young man who thinks and acts for himself, is on his feet and ready to assume responsibility before he reaches the age of thirty. If he depends upon others until he passes middle life, he will always be dependent.

The same God who spoke to Moses from the bush on the hillside, so long ago, still reigns supreme, and His interest in personal destiny is as profound today, as at any time in history.

Sammy Strang is not called upon to go out and deliver an oppressed race from bondage, but in his calling as a ball player, the same voice that spoke to Moses, is prompting to action and confident endeavor.

The mission of every life means more than simple existence, and the young man who fails to recognize this fact, in this age of progress and golden opportunity, falls in the first great essential.

"The 'Sammy Strangs' of today are the men who do things and win, because inspired by sublime confidence which knows no defeat. The world has a place for such men, not only on the diamond, but in every calling."

There will be lots of time to rest, bye and bye, under the little green mound in the church yard, but the time to work is now, and the best inspiration for the task was expressed by the young soldier, who, when requested by the late President McKinley to carry a letter to Garcia, said without hesitation, but with sublime confidence: "I will."

PROBABLY A CLASS GAME THANKSGIVING

Senior and Sophomore Teams of the High School Will Likely Battle for Cup at That Time.

It is altogether likely that the football season of the Janesville high school will be closed by a class game, deciding the winner of the Denison trophy cup, on Thanksgiving day. The Freshmen and Sophomore eleven played last evening, and victory went to the latter by a score of 6 to 0. Tuesday evening the Seniors won from the Juniors and now it takes but one game, unless the result be a tie, to award the cup to either the Seniors or Sophomores. This contest will take place some time next week and probably on Thanksgiving day, for the first team of the school has disbanded for the year. The team was to have gone to Evansville today, but for various reasons the date was canceled.

FOOTBALL GAMES IN THE EAST AND WEST

Harvard-Yale Contest Overshadows All Other Conflicts on the Gridiron.

Today marks the last week but one of the football season for the big events of the country. The most important contest on the gridiron calendar is the game between Harvard and Yale, at Soldiers' Field, Boston. The Universities of Columbia and Pennsylvania close their season with a game at New York; Amherst's naval cadets tussle with the eleven of the Virginia Polytechnic institute at Amherst, and this will be the hardest fight for the middies until they meet the army eleven next Saturday.

In the west a hard struggle is on between the Northwestern eleven and the players of Minnesota university, at Minneapolis, with Lawrence university and Marquette college fighting it out at Appleton, Wis. The eleven of Knox and Beloit colleges will try conclusions on the gridiron at Beloit.

At Cambridge, Nov. 25—The weather is unsettled, and the streets thronged. Hockey, Harvard's Captain is unable even to witness the game, but this morning he sent a message to his team, "Dig in, smash the line, and obey instructions."

THE WEATHER.
Temperature last 24 hours taken from registered thermometer at Heintz street's drugstore: highest, 48; lowest, 31; at 7 a. m., 34; at 3 p. m., 46; wind, northwest; partly cloudy; snow flurries.

PRESS COMMENT.

Wants to Know It He's It.
Oshkosh Northwestern: Perhaps Governor La Follette summoned the legislature to meet in special session just to see whether he is still boss.

Might Need Patrol Wagon.
St. Louis Globe-Democrat: The population of the Isle of Pines consists of 420 Americans and 2,670 Cubans. If that revolution continues it may be necessary to call a patrol wagon.

To Save People From Content.
Milwaukee Sentinel: Why all this perplexity about the extra session, isn't it high time to pull off a spectacular stunt when a busy people are lapsing into contentment and forgetfulness?

Great Prospects in Oshkosh.
Oshkosh Northwestern: Some of the clothing dealers here have started ed a merry war over which they will give away a turkey with the smallest purchase of goods. And if they only keep it up there is a chance that before Thanksgiving a man will be able to get his turkey free, with a necktie or a pair of suspenders thrown in just to induce him to go after it.

Wall Street Distress No Account.
La Crosse Leader-Press: Secretary Shaw's head is level when he says that the United States treasury shall not be used to boom speculation. Legitimate business is not affected by the distress of Wall street gamblers and there is no need of United States funds being used for their benefit.

Poor, Narrow-Visioned Canucks.
El Paso Herald: Canadians still have dreams of creating a big popular nation out of there which will come with us, and one of their orators is advocating a heavy tariff on American magazines—they sing too much, in his opinion, "on the dominant note of how great and wonderful" the Americans are and encourage the Canucks to migrate. Evidently he has not been reading those monthlies which specialize on graft.

Distinguished as a Muddler.
Milwaukee Sentinel: As an organizer and campaigner Boss La Follette is all that he has been pictured. As a constructive statesman he is a flat failure, a fact that is amply demonstrated by the laws about which he now complains. Should the legislature see fit to accept and act on the suggestions that will be incorporated in his message to be transmitted to that body December 1 without hesitation or demur, another extraordinary occasion will arise before spring. It will be found that new blunders will have been committed, new holes will be discovered in the statutory skin, new stumbling blocks will be placed in the way of the heads of the departments and state commissions. If the legislature does not take its medicine quietly it will remain in session for weeks, and perhaps months. Meanwhile, Wisconsin will have but one senator at Washington because the extraordinary boss has not yet completed his work of complicating the laws and muddling the political situation in this state in a most extraordinary way.

NEWS OF A PERSONAL NATURE
Thomas Hefferan is in at his home on Chatham Street.
J. W. Clark has returned from a business trip to Missouri.
Halvey Bovee, a former Janesville resident but now of Minneapolis, paid a brief visit to local friends the first of the week.
The Misses Helga Larsen and Hannah Anderson were guests of the former's parents near Evansville recently.
Walter Helms returned Thursday evening from a business trip to the northern part of the state.
Landlord Bert Hyle and wife of the Central House of Evansville, were Janesville visitors Thursday evening.
Fred Green was in Beloit last evening where he visited his brother Howard Green who is attending Beloit College.
Mrs. J. J. James of Marion, Iowa, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. J. H. Huntress, for the past week, left yesterday for Chicago.
T. P. Burns was in Chicago Thursday.
Louis Gage went to McFarland, Wis., this morning to attend the funeral of the late Mr. Reed of that place, with whom Mr. Gage was intimately acquainted.
Dr. F. T. Richards was a Chicago visitor yesterday.
Fred J. Bailey is in Chicago on business.

TOOTH TALKS

Many let their teeth go to pieces because they feel they can't afford to put the necessary money into them. Possibilities are as near together as those given recently in a Chicago daily, a teamster's salary being $2 a day, gives the cost of living in Chicago as follows:

Rent.....	50 cents
Food.....	75 cents
Fuel.....	30 cents
Light.....	7 cents
Car fare.....	10 cents
Extra meal for driver.....	25 cents

Total.....$1.97

Now, I don't really see how these men can put much into their teeth, but be your resource, ever so small in Janesville you need not neglect your teeth.

Dr. Richards will do your work thoroughly and his fees are REASONABLE.

FREE DISCUSSION
FOR POSTMASTER

COMMENTS HEARD ON EVERY SIDE OVER CANDIDATES' FIDELITY.

OLD SOLDIERS AND OTHERS

Comments Pro and Con for the Aspirants Are Far from Complimentary.

Not only is the local fight for postmaster warm, but it is becoming decidedly heated. With the announcement of Mr. Nowlan that he is not a candidate for reappointment, candidates for the office have sprung up on all sides. Men with army records, men with ability shown as public officers, young men with business ability and shrewd politicians, are being discussed as possibilities. It is safe to say that nine out of every ten men you see on the streets have some chosen candidate and are anxious to discuss his merits. If you see two men coming down the sidewalk and a third waiting for them you can rest assured the postoffice is being discussed.

Even the home is not bereft of the interesting topic. The candidacy of Charles Valentine, Col. E. O. Kimberley, Fred Clemens, L. L. Leslie, Frank P. Starr or Marshall Richardson are as freely discussed there as on the streets. Even if the modern woman has not the right to vote she has the right to talk and many a poor-headed husband is casually informed, peeked through his papers he is to sign before he goes downtown to business.

But to revert back to the street talk. This is by far the most interesting. Col. Kimberley's chances on the ground he is an old soldier are extolled by his friends. Charles Valentine's long record as a public official in one capacity or another is recounted. Marshall Richardson's ability as a lawyer, Frank P. Starr's record as a county official and supervisor of assessments and his vigorous shouting for La Follette are freely commented upon and the business ability of Fred Clemens as the business man's candidate related. There is no doubt if Mr. Cooper listens to all the advice that will be poured into his ears on Monday next he will be more perplexed than ever.

Postmasters in general are discussed on every highway and byway. Nothing has so stirred the citizens as the opportunity to discuss politics again after a rest of a few months. Everyone seems agreed that a strong administration man will be appointed and those who are not administration men laugh at the wild scramble of the others for honor. This means that ninety-five per cent of the whole population of Janesville have the opportunity of their lifetime at enjoying the mix-up over the prospective postmaster.

One of the interesting society events in the county this week was the wedding of Miss Martha Caroline Newhouse, youngest daughter of Mrs. N. O. Newhouse of South Clinton and a sister of District Attorney W. O. Newhouse, to Martin C. Tillotson.

The ceremony was performed Wednesday afternoon in the Lutheran church at Bergen. The bridesmaids were the Misses Anna Tillotson, Marie Gilbertson, Gertrude Nelson, and Ida Duxstad and Charles Newhouse, Oscar Stenerson, Clement Stabeck, and Knute Tillotson attended the groom.

The interior of the church was beautifully decorated with white chrysanthemums. Miss Emma Duxstad, presiding at the organ, played Lohengrin's wedding march, and the bride, on the arm of her brother, W. O. Newhouse, was preceded in the procession to the altar by Miss Sarah Tillotson, maid of honor. Rev. Nels Kleven pronounced the solemn ceremony.

Quite the newest thing in social functions, locally, is the vaccination party. So far as can be learned the idea originated with a group of young ladies including several members of the high school faculty. The affair was given one evening this week and began with chaffing-dish festivities, in which the physician who was to perform the operations was understood to have participated. The entertainment closed with vaccination of the whole circle as a coup-de-grace and a chorus of "ouches."

Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith and Miss Jeanie Galbraith have just returned from New York and Washington. Mr. Galbraith officiated as single judge in all the Hackney and draft horse classes at the horse show in Madison Square Garden. Mr. Galbraith has judged at more important horse shows and state fairs during recent years than any man in America. He reports the recent show in New York as by far the best ever held and a magnificent success both socially and financially.

Miss Luella Byram was surprised by friends at the home of her partner, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sykes, on Washington street last night, the occasion being her fifteenth birthday anniversary. The evening was devoted to games and dainty refreshments were served. In the company were: Agnes Smith, Mabel Malbon, Gertrude Smith, Emma Westby, Clitha Baker, Regna Christanson, Ray Ayers, Edward Hather, Herman Cuelkey and Charles Miller.

Eighteen couples attended the second dancing party of the season given by "The Quakers" at East Side Odd Fellows' hall last evening. Prof. Lake's orchestra played until midnight and a delightful time was enjoyed by all the participants. Dances on the two preceding nights interfered seriously with the attendance, but the small deficit in the treasury will doubtless be made up at the next hop in the series.

John Flagler, who lately purchased an interest in the livery business on West Milwaukee street, formerly owned by Joseph Burns, is removing from his place west of the city to a new home on Mineral Point avenue, next to the residence of S. A. Heddes.

Mrs. G. W. Stearns is entertaining her brother, H. P. Hickok, of Berlin, Wis., at her home on Milwaukee avenue. Mrs. Stearns and Mr. Hickok had not met for the past thirty years and his present visit is an exceedingly pleasurable one for both. He will remain here about a week.

Mrs. Charles Groff and children have left for Stillwater, Minn., where they will reside in the future. Mr. Groff recently secured a position in a shoe factory in that city.

County Treasurer Oliver Smith entertained a company of friends at his home in Beloit last evening. Several of his associates at the Court House participated in the festivities.

Mrs. W. C. McMannus of Emerton has decided to make her permanent residence in Janesville. For the present she will make her home with her sister, Mrs. George G. Sutherland.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Scott who reside near Wausau Wisconsin, are in the city, the guest of local relatives. They will remain until after Thanksgiving.

Mrs. Locke B. Pierce and little son of Fellows, are spending a few days with Mrs. Pierce's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Conroy.

Mrs. M. C. Fish returned from Chicago today where she has been spending the past few days.

The Ladies' Evening Duplicate Whist club meets this evening at the home of Mrs. Charles L. Fitch.

FOOTPADS GO TO
STATE'S PRISON

FOUR YEARS FOR J. E. THOMPSON OF BELOIT.

SIX FOR WALTER CONROY

Two Vicious Inhabitants of Rock Co. Will Pay Heavy Penalty for Attack on Thomas Riley.

Six years in the state's prison at Waupun is Walter H. Conroy's portion for the part he played in the assault and robbery of Thomas Riley of Porter at Beloit Monday evening and four years in the same institution is the term which Conroy's companion, J. E. Thompson, had to serve. The two men had waived examination and their trial had been set for December 1. This morning they decided to amend their "not guilty" plea to "guilty" and they were given this opportunity in municipal court.

Cold Blooded Villainy

Riley came to Janesville Monday to attend a funeral. Late in the afternoon he took an incognito car to Beloit to make a short visit with his brother. As he alighted from the car in the City he was hailed by Conroy, who ascertained his mission and told him that the brother he was searching for was living at his (Conroy's) boarding-house and offered to show him the way thither. Drinks were suggested and in company with Conroy's companion, Thompson, a call was made at one of the nearby saloons. Riley was persuaded to purchase a bottle of whiskey. The two guides then piloted him up Fourth avenue and when they reached a lonely spot near the river they set on him and beat him unmercifully. Some weapon, possibly a shoemaker's knife, as the handle of one was found on the scene of the fray the next day, was used on Riley's head. A long cut in the scalp which exposed the bone was inflicted. The two men took a watch and $1.45 in money away from him. Escaping from their clutches he plunged into the river to get away from them. From the bank they hurled stones at him for a time and then turned back to the city.

Bloody Shirt Shown

Conroy displayed the watch in a barroom which he visited and was arrested that evening. Thompson, hearing of the arrest, hurried home and changed his clothes; then appeared at the police station and surrendered. He had forgotten, however, to remove the blood-stains from his overcoat and hands. In police court at Beloit the bloody shirt worn by Thompson was produced. When Judge Fitch asked Conroy if he had anything to say this morning he contented himself with saying that he was drunk and he guessed that he would teach him a lesson. He hoped the court would be lenient. The judge called the prisoner's attention to the fact that, since completing his 18 months' sentence in the reformatory at Green Bay last July he had committed two crimes punishable by prison sentences. Only a few weeks ago he had been implicated in the stealing of some coal in Janesville and had subsequently been driven out of the city under threat of prosecution if he ever came back here again.

While Conroy bears all the earmarks of a degenerate, his companion, Thompson, had the appearance of a decent citizen. The latter admitted that he had once been tried for stealing and acquitted and did not deny that he had at various times been guilty of misdemeanors. He was therefore given a lighter sentence.

Taken to Prison This Noon

Thompson has been working at odd times at the Fairbanks-Morse plant in Beloit. Conroy, after leaving Janesville, worked in the sugar beets at Clinton for a time and then drifted to the Line City. He admitted in court this morning that he did not know Riley's brother, but claimed that he was too drunk to remember even telling him that he did. Regarding the attack on the river bank his memory, he protested, was a blank. Riley's garments after the two men got through with him were soaked with blood. The prisoners were taken to Waupun by the sheriff this noon.

EXPECT FACTORY

CHICAGO CONCERN LOOKS UPON CITY VERY FAVORABLY.

IT EMPLOYS FORTY MEN

Does All the Business Its Present Capacity Is Able To Do—Excellent Prospects.

Efforts on the part of the Janesville Advancement Association to locate good first-class industries in this city appear to be bearing fruit. A Chicago manufacturing concern has examined the field, has been examining in turn by the association, and has practically decided to remove from the Windy city to Janesville, it is one of the best concerns of its kind in the United States and handles goods that are of a world-wide demand. At present it employs some forty hands, but will doubtless increase this force to seventy-five or a hundred as the business demands. It has been established for ten years and is doing all the business possible in its present quarters in Chicago. During the ten years it has never lost one day because of a shutdown, except from strikes. Strikes are the keynote of its removal from Chicago and it will bring with it families of skilled workmen; also employ local labor at good salaries. It is an ideal proposition and one that is well worth considering. The business career of the company has been carefully looked into by a special committee of the Advancement Association and found to be excellent. The president of the company has visited Janesville and is much pleased with the city. Minor details remain to be settled and it is probable that a subscription paper will be passed among the business men interested in the welfare of the city to defray the moving expenses and other incidental costs that will arise. Full details of this industry will be given later when it is definitely settled when they will come.

HERO RISKS LIFE TO SAVE OTHERS

Man on Rescuing Crew, Sticks to His Post Despite Injuries.

LANDS THIRTY-EIGHT SAFELY

Lifeboat is Brought Near Stranded Steamer Off Holland, Mich., Robert Smith catches Line From Ship, and is Pulled Aboard.

Holland, Mich., Nov. 25.—Robert Smith, life saver and hero, tossed his own life into the balance. Friday to rescue thirty-eight men, women and children from the decks of the stranded steamship Argo, off this city. Smith's bravery won, and already his fame has traveled from port to port and the story of his exploits has been added to the lore of thrilling deeds performed on the great lakes.

The Argo, from Chicago, and a steel vessel, struck a bar at 5:30 o'clock Friday morning, and in an instant the fifty-three mile gale was throwing great waves across her decks. From dawn until after darkness the life saving crew fought against odds, and at last brought all excepting Captain John Stewart, and a few of his faithful men to shore in a breeches buoy, hung on a slender life line. Stewart and his little band refused to leave the ship, saying they would stay with her until the last hope of saving her should have to be abandoned.

Sixteen members of the passenger list and of the crew were Chicagoans—two of them women. Exclusive of the crew, they were: Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Niskern, H. H. Walker, George P. Furt, Mrs. C. W. Earl, J. Burton, and E. A. Adams.

Crew is Beaten Back.

Repeatedly the life saving crew had launched their little lifeboat into the surf and had been beaten back. A line had been shot across the decks of the imperiled vessel from the beach cannon, but the crew and passengers stood helplessly at its side, unable to manipulate the breeches buoy which had traversed the 500 feet of tossing foam. It was feared that the steamship would begin to break up at any moment.

In this extremity one more effort to pull the lifeboat to the side of the stranded ship was made. Again the endeavor failed, but the craft was brought so near the ship's side that a line thrown from her deck was caught by Robert Smith, one of the men at the oars. Without a second's hesitation Smith tied the line about his waist and leaped into the icy water. He was borne under the surface several times, but strong hands pulled him toward the ship and soon he was standing on her deck, weak from exposure and bruised by contact with the sides of the vessel.

Taking command of the life line he summoned one of the women to go forward and be the first to make the perilous journey through the churning waves. She started to obey, but then drew back dismayed. Mrs. Niskern took her place. A cheer marked her safe arrival on shore. Other women and several children followed rapidly.

Life Line is Parted.
The line frayed on the side of the ship, and after eight persons had made the trip to shore the strands parted. Throughout the hours that had intervened since the vessel struck and the life saver had been dragged aboard the little band had waited bravely, and there was no suggestion of a panic when the line parted. Fortunately the accident occurred when the buoy was on its return to the vessel.

Again the beach cannon was brought into play and another line was shot across the Argo's deck. It was noon before the new line had been made fast, and the buoy had been started to shore again. From then on until after darkness fell the life savers worked tirelessly, Smith refusing to stand aside to permit stronger hands to take the burden from his own.

When all excepting a few members of the crew had been shot across the sagging line Smith called for a man to take his place in the buoy.

"Not until I see what the cap'n is going to do," said the sailor.

"I'm going to stand by," said Captain Stewart.

"Then we will stand by," said the other members of the crew.

Smith took his place in the buoy, and with his hands pulled him to his reward, the fearful thanks of those for whom he had risked his life. They met him on shore, hugged him, and slapped him on the back, and would have dragged him off to a hot dinner, but he preferred the warm conclusion of the life saving station, and went away with his comrades.

Repairs on Wyoming Cost $20,075.
Vallejo, Cal., Nov. 25.—The orders for the repairs to the turret of the monitor Wyoming have been issued. The entire work of the machinists on the vessel will cost about $20,075.

Hazards Are Dismissed.

Culver, Ind., Nov. 25.—Eleven students at Culver Military academy have been dismissed because they nearly killed a student whom they were hazing.

Manitoba to Own Telephones.

Winnipeg, Nov. 27.—Manitoba is to have a state owned system of telephones and public ownership of other utilities.

BIGMIST IS SENTENCED TO THE PENITENTIARY

Strenuously Denies That He Had Abandoned Wife and Children, But Finally Admits His Guilt.

Plymouth, Ind., Nov. 25.—C. W. Foster formerly of Toulon, Ill., and who had been living in Bourbon, this county, since last May, has been convicted of bigamy and has been sent to the state's prison at Michigan City for a period of from two to five years.

While working at the carpenter's trade in Bourbon Foster began paying attentions to Mrs. Josephine Feller, who was led by his solicitations to become his wife. Foster procured his marriage license in Plymouth about three weeks ago, and to questions asked by the clerk said that he had been married, but that his wife had died in Illinois three years ago.

In the meantime a letter from Mrs. Foster was received by the marshal of Bourbon making inquiries about her husband and saying that he had left her and three children in destitute circumstances. Foster was shown the letter, but denied that he was the man. Another letter came from Toulon, and the situation becoming too warm for Foster he fled the town, leaving many bills unpaid, but was arrested in Fort Wayne.

At his trial in the circuit court he first denied the accusations, but finally pleaded guilty. His second wife believed his denial of the story and followed him to Fort Wayne, but has since returned to her home in Bourbon.

GERMAN MAGNET TO WED PRETTY STENOGRAPHER

Goes to Complete Purchase of Touring Automobile and Loses Heart to Key Manipulator.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 25.—Pretty Jeanette Benham sat idly striking the keys of a typewriting machine in the office of a motor company a few weeks ago when Fritz Loeser of Berlin entered the office to complete the purchase of a touring automobile. Miss Benham was a new arrival in the place. Loeser glanced at her once, lost his heart and forgot all that he had intended to say. Instead he requested an introduction and got it.

Matters have sped since then. Miss Benham wears a huge diamond bracelet and a message has been sent to a Berlin jeweler for other antenuptial presents. It is said the stenographer and the millionaire are to be married after the Christmas holidays.

Mr. Loeser came to the United States five months ago and stopped in Buffalo on his way west to buy an automobile. He is wealthy in his own right and will some day be one of the richest men in the German empire. The Loeser family is the tobacco trust of Germany.

Dynamite Alleged Blind Pig.

Baraboo, Wis., Nov. 25.—A terrific explosion of dynamite blew Jerry Bresnahan's building at Delton to bits and broke every window in the village. It is alleged Bresnahan runs a "blind pig" in the back part of the building. Delton is a temperance town.

Will Overhaul Battleship.

Washington, Nov. 25.—The battleship Oregon, now in the Asiatic station, is to be thoroughly overhauled on its return. The Massachusetts will be put out of commission.

TRADE VOLUME HOLDS ITS OWN

Shortage of Cars Indicates Distribution Is Beyond Precedent.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR WORKMEN

Labor and Material Is in Exceptional Demand for Heavy Outdoor Work, Due to the Mild Weather—November is Busy Month.

Chicago, Nov. 25.—The weekly review of Chicago trade, published by R. G. Dunn & Co., says:

"Industrial conditions generally maintain encouraging features. Production is steady at the highest volume, but surplus supplies of raw and finished material are not in evidence, and values exhibit the greatest strength of recent years.

"Overtaxed freight capacity testifies to unprecedented distribution of commodities and confidence in the future course of business is seen in the enormous accumulation of forward orders and extensive additions to manufacturing plants in this district soon to be started.

Demand for Labor.
"Heavy outdoor work makes rapid headway, and this draws upon labor and material to an unusual extent, the lumber trade and planing mills especially feeling much pressure of needs for prompt delivery.

"The absorption of iron and steel, machinery, electric equipment, hardware and farm implements shows healthy expansion, while the demand for leather and footwear reaches large proportions; and tanners make liberal shipments, which cause depletion of stocks carried. Hides continue in exceptional request, and the packing houses employ augmented forces.

Trade Is Active.

"November has shown less quiet in retail activity than is usually looked for during that month. Weather conditions remained favorable in the leading departments, and the buying of winter goods and Christmas novelties has made fine progress. Country reports have a satisfactory tone, general merchandise being freely bought and liberal investment made in farm improvement. Mercantile defaults again are seen to be small in number, and amount, and western collections occasion little comment.

"Failures reported in the Chicago district number 21, against 27 last week, and 24 a year ago."

BEER BETTER THAN DUMPLINGS

Cleveland Minister Says of Two Evils Jag Is Preferable to Dyspepsia.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 25.—"Of two evils, a stomach full of beer and one full of apple dumplings, I believe that beer is better for a man than the dyspepsia breeding dumplings. A disordered stomach is not conducive to good thoughts. There is nothing worse than apple dumplings to produce a disordered stomach." Thus opined the Rev. James A. Barnes, pastor of Bolton Avenue Baptist church, in an address at Goodrich house last night. His remarks were received with enthusiasm. "I don't drink beer myself," he said, "but I believe beer is the lesser evil."

CALLS JAPANESE A DESERTER.

Wife Alleges He Left Her and Children and Married Her Maid.

New York, Nov. 25.—Charging that her husband, a Japanese valet, had abandoned her and their four children, Mrs. Sassa appeared in court and described how she had married the defendant in Japanese form. The two drank tea together, she said, and he then placed a ring on her finger. Since abandoning her, the plaintiff said, Sassa had married her former maid. The case was continued after Sassa's attorney had disputed the legality of the marriage.

ACCUSES MAN OF KILLING WIFE AND FIVE CHILDREN

Skulls of Victims Are Crushed and Bodies Are Mutilated in Most Shocking Manner.

Independence, Iowa, Nov. 25.—With their skulls crushed in and their bodies mutilated in the most shocking manner, Mrs. William F. McWilliams and her five children, ranging in age from 3 to 18 years, were found murdered in the kitchen of their farmhouse, six miles south of this place. The husband and father is under arrest here, but he denies the crime. It is claimed, however, that he confessed to a mail carrier that he had murdered his family. It is generally believed he is insane.

Evidently the mother had been killed while preparing a meal, for when the bodies were found food was on the stove cooking. She had been killed with a hammer and her skull was terribly crushed, then she had been savagely hacked with a knife. After her murder the children evidently had been called in one by one and slain in a similar manner. All were clothing that indicated that they had been at work on the farm just before death.

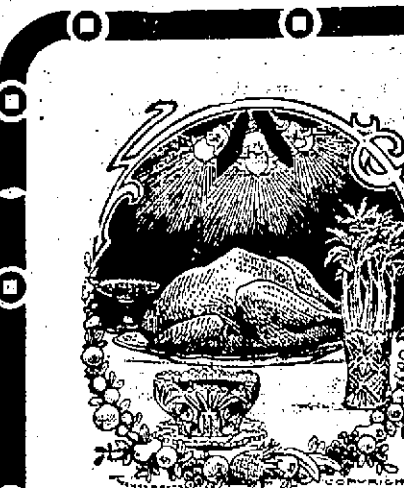

The babe, 3 years old, when found still wore hood and mittens and had in its hand a piece of buttered bread. One blow of the hammer had sufficed for it and then the murderer laid it in its dead mother's arms. The only evidence of a struggle was found in injuries sustained by the 16-year-old daughter. Her hands were badly lacerated, where she apparently had clutched at the murderous knife.

The crime was discovered by a milkman named Saunders. When officers reached the house no trace of the husband could be found, but a suit of his clothing was found smeared with blood. Later it was learned from a rural mail carrier that he had met McWilliams going toward Independence and that he had coolly told the carrier his family had been killed.

He came into Independence by a circuitous route. Evidence connects him closely with the crime. He has long been known as a sullen man with an ugly temper.

AFTER TWENTY YEARS

Railway Switchman Tells Remarkable Story of His Experience—Relief At Last.

Nearly a quarter of a century of ill health and suffering had left its mark on Mr. Steven Clifford, a prominent railroad switchman, living at 2709 Central Ave., Minneapolis. Yet according to his signed statement, so quickly has his trouble been removed that his cure seems little short of miraculous.

"I have been a sufferer from Catarrh for twenty-two years and although I tried many remedies nothing seemed to afford any relief. When L. T. Cooper, the philanthropist, was in Minneapolis with his New Discovery Medicines I heard so many marvelous cures that were being effected and the proof of their efficiency was so strong that I decided to try them.

"I have taken Cooper's New Discovery and Quick Relief for about one week and the result has been wonderful. It has made a new man of me in this short time and I feel better and stronger and happier than I have felt for years."

Cooper's New Discovery drives every trace of disease poison from the system. It purifies, enriches the blood; it strengthens every organ in the body and will cure Catarrh, Deafness, Rheumatism, Stomach and Kidney troubles, Blood diseases and Paralysis. Cooper's New Discovery costs $1.00 per bottle. The Quick Relief which should be used in connection is fifty cents.

SENSIBLE TYPES IN WINTER SHOES

For all the low shoes a brilliantly shiny leather is the approved mode, and for high shoes—or boots, as they call them in London—a dull top combines best with the shiny vamp. For a riding boot the patent coil or japanned leather is the mode, and the heel to this boot is comfortably higher than heretofore. A stout sole that projects slightly is in vogue for all shoes, walking and dress shoes alike; it is only the dancing slippers that employ the turned sole this season. The pump, Christy and sailor ties and rather high-cut oxfords are expected to maintain all of their summer vogue, especially since the best tailors are making spats or uppers from the same cloths as they employ for tailor-made costumes, to be worn either a high or a low shoe.

Embroidered stockings are among the prettiest of the new season's fads, and the combination of openwork and embroidery—this latter item of hand work, of course—is highly esteemed. The pump style of shoe is still favored; but it is not nearly so low cut as the summer lasts were. The latter productions come fairly well up on the instep; but the same stiff Quaker bow of ribbon is retained. A shiny black leather and a stout sole characterize the winter styles, and the heel is a well-built-up pattern; high, but broad enough to afford a sufficient firmness in walking.

CHAPTER III.

FROM the breathless silence that followed her answer she saw that she had somehow dealt her mistress a heavy blow, and the sob burst out beyond control, choking her. I could see how my chief's face turned livid. He had driven another rivet in the chain—just the one it needed to hold it firmly together. My head was whirling. Could it be possible, after all, that this gentle, cultured girl was really such a fiend at heart that she could strike down—I put the thought from me. It was monstrous, unbelievable!

The coroner and the district attorney were whispering together, and I saw the former glance from the blood-stained handkerchief on the desk before him to the sobbing woman on the stand. It needed only that—her identification of the evidence. He hesitated a moment, said another word or two to Singleton, then straightened up again in his chair. Perhaps he thought the chain was strong enough; perhaps he saw only that the witness was in no condition to go on.

"Anything further, Mr. Royce?" he asked.

"Not at present, sir," answered our junior hoarsely. I think he was just beginning fully to realize how desperate our case was.

"We will dismiss the witness, then, temporarily," said the coroner. "We shall probably recall her later on."

The maid went back to the witness room on the verge of hysteria, and Goldberg looked over the papers on his desk.

"We have one more witness," he said at last, "Miss Holladay's concubine, and perhaps a little testimony in rebuttal. If you wish to adjourn for lunch, Mr. Royce, I'm quite ready to do so."

"Thank you, sir," said my chief, welcoming an opportunity to pull himself together and prepare a plan of defense. "I do wish it."

"Very well, then. We'll adjourn till 2 o'clock," and he pushed back his chair.

"May I have one word with you, sir?" asked Mr. Royce.

"Certainly."

"I should like to see Miss Holladay a few moments in private. We wish, of course, to arrange our rebuttal."

The coroner looked at him for a moment with eyes in which just a tinge of curiosity flickered.

"I'll be very glad to allow you to see her in private," he answered readily. "I regret greatly that we couldn't find you last night, so that you could have opportunity to prepare for this hearing. I feel that in a way we haven't been quite fair to you, though I don't see how delay could have altered matters, and in a case of this kind prompt action is important. I had no intention of placing Miss Holladay on the witness stand, so I thought it best to proceed at once with the inquest. You must admit, sir, that as the case stands there's only one course open to me."

"I fear so," assented the other sadly. "It's a most incomprehensible case. The chain of evidence seems absolutely complete, and yet I'm convinced—as every sane man must be—that there is in it some fatal flaw, which, once discovered, will send the whole structure tottering. It must be my business to find that flaw."

"Strange things happen in this world, Mr. Royce," observed Singleton, with a philosophy born of experience.

"The impossible never happens, sir!" retorted our junior. "I hope to show you that this belongs in that category."

"Well, I hope you will," said the district attorney. "I'd be glad to find that some one else is guilty."

"I'll do my best." And Mr. Royce turned to me. "Lester, you'd better go and get some lunch. You look quite done up."

"Shall I bring you something?" I asked. "Or, better still, have a meal ready for you in half an hour? Rotin's is just around the corner."

He would have refused, I think, had not the coroner interfered.

"You'd better go, Mr. Royce," he said. "You're looking done up yourself. Perhaps you can persuade Miss Holladay to eat something. I'm sure she needs it."

"Very well, then. Have two meals ready in half an hour, Lester," he said. "and a lunch we can bring back with us. I'll go to Miss Holladay now and then go direct to Rotin's."

He hurried away after the coroner, and I walked slowly over to Rotin's to give the necessary orders. I chose a table in a snug corner, picked up a paper and tried to read. Its one great item of news was the Holladay case, and I grew hot with anger as I saw how unquestioningly how complacently it accepted the theory of the daughter's guilt. Still, I asked myself, was it to blame? Was any one to blame for thinking her guilty after hearing the evidence? How could one escape it? Why, even I—

Preposterous! I tried to reason calmly; to find an opening in the net, yet how complete it was! The only point we had gained so far was that the mysterious visitor had asked for Mr. Holladay, not for her father, and what an infinitesimal point it was! Supposing there had been a quarrel, an estrangement, would not she naturally have used those very words? After all, did not the black eyes, the full lips, the deep colored cheeks bespeak a strong and virile temperament, depth of emotion, capacity for swift and violent anger? But what cause could there be for a quarrel so bitter, so fierce, that it should lead to such a tragedy? What cause? And then suddenly a wave of light broke in upon me. There could be only one. Yes, but there could be one! Capacity for emotion meant capacity for passion. If she had a lover, if she had clung to him despite her father! I knew his reputation for severity, for cold and relentless condemnation. Here was an explanation, certainly!

And then I shook myself together angrily. Here was I reasoning along the theory of her guilt, trying to find a motive for it! I remembered her as I had seen her often, driving with her father; I recalled the many stories I had heard of her devotion; I reflected how her whole life, so far as I knew it, pointed to a nature singularly calm and self-controlled, charitable and loving. As to the lover theory, did not the light in her eyes which had greeted our junior disprove that at once and forever? Certainly, there was some fatal flaw in the evidence, and it was for us to find it.

I leaned my head back against the wall with a little sigh of relief. What a fool I had been! Of course we should find it. Mr. Royce had spoken the words; the district attorney had pointed out the way. We had only to prove an alibi, and the next witness would do it. Her coachman had only to tell where he had driven her, at what place she had stopped, and the whole question would be settled. At the hour the crime was committed she had doubtless been miles away from Wall street, so the question would be settled—settled, too, without the necessity of Miss Holladay undergoing the unpleasant ordeal of cross examination.

"It is a most extraordinary affair," said a voice at my elbow, and I turned with a start to see that the chair just behind me had been taken by a man who was also reading an account of the crime. He laid the paper down and caught my eye. "A most extraordinary affair!" he repeated, appealing to me.

I nodded, merely glancing at him, too preoccupied to notice him closely. I got an impression of a florid face, of a stout, well-dressed body, of an air unmistakably French.

"You will pardon me, sir," he added, leaning a little forward. "As a stranger in this country, I am much interested in your processes of law. This morning I was present at the trial. I perceived you there. It seemed to me that the young lady was in what you call a tight place."

He spoke English very well, with an accent of the slightest. I glanced at him again and saw that his eyes were very bright and that they were fixed upon me intently.

"It does seem so," I admitted, loath to talk, yet not wishing to be discourteous.

"The very thing, I said to myself," he continued eagerly. "The—what you call—co-occurrence of the dress now."

I did not answer. I was in no humor to discuss the case.

"You will pardon me, sir," he repeated persuasively, still leaning forward, "but concerning one point I should like much to know. If she is thought guilty what will occur?"

"She will be bound over to the grand jury," I explained.

"That is, she will be placed in prison?"

"Of course."

"But, as I understand your law, she may be released by bondsmen."

"Not in a capital case," I said; "not in a case of this kind, where the penalty may be death."

"Ah, I see," and he nodded slowly. "She would then not be again released until after she shall have been proved innocent. How great a time would that occupy?"

"I can't say—six months—a year, perhaps."

"Ah, I see," he said again, and drained a glass of absinth he had been toying with. "Thank you, very much, sir."

He arose and went slowly out, and I noted the strength of his figure, the short neck—

The waiter came with bread and butter, and I realized suddenly that it was long past the half hour. Indeed, a glance at my watch showed me that nearly an hour had gone. I waited fifteen minutes longer, ate what I could, and, taking a box lunch under my arm, hurried back to the coroner's office. As I entered I saw a bowed figure sitting at the table, and my heart fell as I recognized our junior. His whole attitude expressed a despair absolute, past redemption.

"I've brought your lunch, Mr. Royce," I said, with what lightness I could muster. "The proceedings will commence in half an hour. You'd better eat something," and I opened the box.

He looked at it for a moment, and then began mechanically to eat. "You look regularly done up," I ventured. "Wouldn't I better get you a glass of brandy? That'll tone you up."

"All right," he assented listlessly, and I hurried away on the errand.

The brandy brought a little color back to his cheeks, and he began to eat with more interest.

"Must I order lunch for Miss Holladay?" I questioned.

Harness Review.

Trotters and Pacers That Won New Honors During Recent Season.

While no light harness performer has during the season of 1905 placed in jeopardy the crown won by Lou Dillon, Major Delmar, Crescens, Dan Patch, Prince Albert and Daniel, it has been a year of sensational racing and trotting, and the champions of 1905 compare all around with the cracks of the sulky of other years.

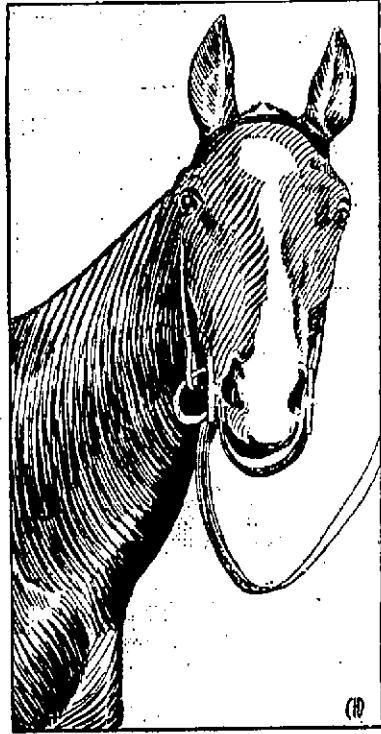

The king of all light harness horses, Dan Patch, has reduced his world's record to 1:55 1/2, which he accomplished Oct. 7, aided by the dirt shield. This champion of champions is now nine years old and is a Indiana production, having been foaled near Oxford. He was trained and driven the first year of his turf career by Mr. Waddell, a man seventy-three years of age.

Dan Patch before he became an exhibition horse won thirteen straight races and lost only two heats in his life. His greatest racing season was in 1901, when he won twelve straight races, meeting all comers through the grand circuit, and losing but one heat, being defeated at Brighton Beach, New York, by Martha Marshall in 2:09.

The great stallion showed this was a fluke by coming back the second heat in 2:04 1/2. The only other heat he ever lost was in the second race he started in at Lafayette, Ind., Mile S. beating him in the slow time of 2:18 1/2, though he was then racing on half mile tracks. The champion is an example of like beget like, and his sire, Joe Patchen, 2:01 1/2, was one of the most brilliant race horses that ever wore harness.

The enormous sum of $180,000 has been refused for Dan Patch, and Flying Fox, the thoroughbred sold to M. Blanc for $101,255, is the only horse in the world's history which ever sold for as much as the sum recently offered for the greatest light harness horse of any age.

To Loconda, the brown pacing stallion, belongs the honor of the fastest harness mile of the year in a race. In a second heat at Lexington he paced a mile in 2:02 flat. Loconda is now eight years old and holds the one and one-half miles pacing record, 3:15 1/2, which is two and one-half seconds faster than Dr. Strong's world's trotting record at that distance. Loconda also held the world's stallion race record, pacing or trotting, in 1904 and has been a grand circuit winner of prominence since his first appearance in first company in 1902. He is also the son of a great horse, being by Allerton, 2:09 1/2. Save The Platter and Axtell, Loconda is about the best horse bred by the noted turfman C. W. Williams, Galesburg, Ill.

To Lightsome, winner of the Kentucky Futurity, belong the honors of the two-year-old champion of the year. Her mark, 2:14 1/2, has been but three times beaten by a filly of this age in a race—viz, Janie T. and Katherine A. 2:14, and Grace Bond, 2:14 1/2. Lightsome was bred by James Dodge of Paris, Ky., and is a daughter of the great race horse Constantine, 2:12 1/2.

Bonalet, the winner of two pacing futurities, is the champion three-year-old pacer of the year, and her mark of 2:09 1/2 ties the world's three-year-old pacing filly record, held by Little Squaw.

Maud Keswick's second heat in the Tennessee at Lexington, 2:03 1/2, put her at the head of the new 2:10 pacers of 1905. She hails from Canada and is a daughter of Keswick, 2:18 1/2. In another season she may force the pacing queen Daniel to step aside, as in two of her heats in the Tennessee she showed flashes of two minute speed.

The Phillips Sell Three Men. Pitcher Corridon, Catcher Abbott and Fielder Kruger of the Philadelphia National League have been sold to the Toledo club for next season. The crack third baseman Hatfield of the Syracuse club has been drafted by the Baltimore club for next year.

The Cuban Auto Races. President E. J. Conill of the Cuban Automobile Racing association doubles emphatically the report from Havana that there is a likelihood of the races in Cuba, scheduled for next January, being called off for want of funds.

Lou Dillon will never race again. She will be used for breeding purposes.

Fire at Dickson, Tenn. Dickson, Tenn., Nov. 25.—Fire destroyed almost the entire business and much of the residence section of this place, causing a loss of about $125,000.

Old Comet Comes Back. Paris, Nov. 25.—Camille Flammarion, the eminent French astronomer, writes that the observatory of La Plata announces the discovery of the Bernard comet of 1892 in the neighborhood of Saturn. He says this comet is probably a fragment of the Wolf comet, which presumably broke up in 1840.

Japanese Want Free Press. Tokyo, Nov. 25.—The agitation against the government for its non-abrogation of martial law and its suppression of the liberties of the press is gaining strength. Many sympathizers with the opposition party can be found, even in the house of peers.

Ask High Tariff in Canada. Chatham, Ont., Nov. 25.—The tariff commission held sessions here and at Wallaceburg. Increased duties were asked for on flour, barrel staves, beet sugar and gasoline engines. An export duty on fish was urged.

Dubuque Fire Costs $200,000. Dubuque, Iowa, Nov. 25.—Fire destroyed a block of brick buildings on the river and A. A. Cooper's wagon warehouse. The loss is $200,000 with insurance of 80 per cent.

SAVED HER LITTLE BOY

Mrs. G. A. Goodwin of Blossburg, Pa., writes that her little son, Walter, had a dreadful cough and no appetite, and failed until he weighed only 55 pounds. Since taking Father John's Medicine he has gained in weight, now weighing 85 pounds, and his cough has been completely cured. "I am thankful to know that a grand medicine," writes Mrs. Goodwin, "and I recommend it to those troubled with coughs, colds, or throat and lung troubles."

Remember, Father John's Medicine is not a patent medicine, but the prescription of an eminent specialist who prescribed it for the late Rev. Father John O'Brien, by whom it was recommended and from whom it derived its name. It is free from opium, morphine or any of the nerve-deadening drugs or weakening stimulants. Cures colds or money back.

JUDGE FOR YOURSELF

Which is Better—Try an Experiment Or Profit by Janesville Citizen's Experience.

Something new is an experiment. Must be proved to be as represented. The statement of a manufacturer is not convincing proof of merit. But the endorsement of friends is. Now supposing you had a bad back, A Lame, Weak or Aching one, Would you experiment on it? You will read of many so-called cures.

Endorsed by strangers from far-away places.

It's different when the endorsement comes from home. Easy to prove local testimony. Home endorsement is the proof that backs every box of Doan's Kidney Pills.

Read this case: Chas. W. Allen, of 126 Chatham St., Janesville, Wis., says: "After my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I am ready to recommend them as a remedy that can be relied upon in kidney troubles and backache. I tried many different remedies for these complaints, but until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the Peoples' drug company I found little or no help. After a few days' treatment with Doan's Kidney Pills the aching and other symptoms left me and have never returned."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Midburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

To be beautiful is to be loved by all. If there lives the woman who is indifferent to this she is yet to be heard of. Yet from time immemorial society has recognized what they thought to be a detriment in the way of such a realization. The bearing of children has meant to them the marbling of physical beauty of figure, without which beauty of face would be of little account. Nothing could be more remote from truth than this; childbirth is purely a natural phenomenon, accompanied by pain, to be sure, but if properly managed no more harmful in its effects upon the human form divine than any other natural function.

MOTHER'S FRIEND

Is essential in the proper management of the labor of labor; it relaxes and softens the abdominal muscles, thereby enabling them to sustain the stretching that they must undergo, and from this very fact facilitates their return to normal proportions after childbirth, and it is obvious that pain must be greatly lessened from this very reason. It is a liniment, it is harmless, it is potent, it is priceless in its results, it is Mother's Friend. $1.00 per bottle, adding stores. Our book of priceless value sent free to all women.

T. P. BURNS' THANKSGIVING SALE

Don't misunderstand us
—We are not losing money
—The saving we make for you comes from our close buying.

The November trade is rapidly increasing. Our sales show an increase of hundreds of dollars. Why? Because a store is judged by the sales made—and by its good reputation. If a store is progressing constantly, which it is in our case, it is a good store. Be sure of that, because it is the public who gives the business to us, and what brings the public are the good values and the good service which they receive. Just because our business has largely increased don't think we have laid aside our "spurs," for we haven't. No matter whether you come only to look or to buy you will receive the same care and attention.

To the Southlands of Texas and the Gulf Coast

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 5TH

ROUND TRIP, - - $26.30 FROM JANESVILLE

Berth and Meals in new private hotel car throughout entire trip at the moderate rate of $2 per day. Side trips free. Tickets good for 21 Days.

Will you journey with us to the South December 5th?

Will you investigate the famous rice and farm lands of Southeastern Texas and the Gulf Coast as we did a short time since?

Will you take advantage of the lowest rate and best opportunity yet offered to learn of the vast riches and untold resources of that wonderful State of Texas, where the investor can find a safe avenue for doubling his money in a short time, and where the small owner or renter can become a land owner of consequence within a year?

The trend of land investment has been moving into Texas strongly the past few years. Lands are advancing 10 to 40 per cent per annum. The Northern farmer finds land that is double in richness as compared with the North, and climatic and all other conditions less rigorous and living far less expensive. He finds that the same amount of labor placed against the Southern land will yield him double the return. Lands of Southeastern Texas will produce a diversity of crops, and will in addition grow RICE, the surest and most profitable crop grown in America.

Mr. Humphrey and Mr. Kemmerer, of our firm, have just returned from a two weeks' trip to these lands, and find on close investigation the facts as stated here. This trip has resulted in the excursion south spoken of above, which is to take place Tuesday, Dec. 5th.

WHAT CAN I DO IN TEXAS? ANSWERED:

If you are a good farmer you can raise—
55 bushels of corn per acre and get 60 cents per bushel for it.
60 bushels of oats per acre and get 50 cents per bushel for it.
125 bushels of Irish potatoes per acre and get 50 cents per bushel for them.
150 bushels of sweet potatoes and get 50 cents per bushel for them.
2,000 sacks of rice in one season and get $6,500 for it.
5 tons of alfalfa per acre (cutting it five times) and sell it for $14.00 per ton.
1 1/4 bales of cotton per acre and sell it for $75.00.
Broom corn can be grown in the Coast Country equally as successfully as in the famous Coles County district of Illinois.

If you are a truck grower you can raise—
250 bushels of tomatoes per acre (two crops) and sell them for $500.
55 bushels of peas per acre (two crops) and sell them for $1.00 per bushel.
90 bushels of beans per acre (two crops) and sell them for $400.
1,000 melons, per acre and sell them for $200.
8,000 Cabbages per acre and sell them for $560.
7,000 cauliflower per acre and sell them for $600.
200 bushels cucumbers per acre and sell them for $200.
5,000 pounds of onions per acre and sell them for $300.
Peanuts grow abundantly, and is a very profitable crop.

Present Prices of These Lands

We will sell 40 acres or more at prices from $10 to $25 per acre, depending on location, to be paid for as follows: $2.50 per acre when the contract of sale is executed, and the balance in equal installments covering a period of ten years, and due monthly, quarterly, semi-annually, to suit the circumstances of purchaser, with interest on deferred payments at 6 per cent. per annum, payable semi annually. Purchaser to have the option of paying any part or all of the deferred payments at any time before due, and so stop interest. Forty acres of any land we sell will provide a good living for a family, make all desirable improvements and pay for itself in half the time we give. At the same time it is steadily and rapidly increasing in value. TAXES—The taxes on the lands in this area are very low running from five to nine cents per acre per annum.

The climatic conditions are superb and appeal to those who desire an even temperature. The Gulf breezes warm the cold north winds of winter and cool the hot winds of summer. SIDE TRIPS FREE to where we will show you the growing crops and land such as you desire to see, at prices to suit everyone. A trip with us in our new Palace Car with three square meals each day and good berth every night you are gone is the cheapest, most comfortable and most delightful outing you can take. Something new and of interest to you every day. TICKETS GOOD FOR 21 DAYS. Usual stopover privileges allowed.

We leave Janesville, Wis., TUESDAY, DECEMBER 5th. Fare for the round trip, $26.30. Write or call on us for full particulars. We will make it of interest to you to go with us.
